Legal basis for using your information

We will only use your personal data when the law allows us to. Most commonly we will use your personal data in the following circumstances:

1. Legitimate Interest: we use your personal information because we have a legitimate business interest in providing you with the best possible experience, telling you about our goods and services and ensuring we can run our business and to carry out analytics and research

2. Performance of Contract: where we have contracted to provide a service or process your online orders we will process your information in order to fulfil our contract with you.
3. Compliance with a Legal or Regulatory Obligation: we also use your personal information because we have a set of legal obligations, such as meeting our taxation duties and managing legal claims.
4. With your Consent: we will only use your special category data with your consent, however if you do not consent or later withdraw your consent, we will not be able to accept your booking or may have to cancel a booking that has already been made.

Who do we share your information with?

We may be obliged to share your information with third parties where legally required to do so under relevant laws and government requests, or when a course is being offered in conjunction with one of our course partners. A list of course partners can be found on our website. Our course partners need to know your information because they will be helping run the courses. You have separately provided your consent to us sharing your information with our course partners.

We may disclose your personal information to our infrastructure providers and any third party who acquires our business.

We may transfer your information abroad and outside the European Economic Area for using services such as Google Analytics.

Destinations outside the EEA may not have the same legal protections for personal data as you enjoy under English law. We will take all steps reasonably necessary to ensure that your data is treated securely and in accordance with this privacy statement and data protection legislation.

When we transfer your personal data out of the EEA, we ensure a similar degree of protection is afforded to it by ensuring at least one of the following safeguards is implemented:

- the countries we transfer your personal data to have been deemed to provide an adequate level of protection for personal data by the European Commission;
- we use contractual clauses approved by the European Commission which give personal data similar protection to that which it has in the EEA; or
- where we use providers based in the US, we may transfer data to them if they are part of the Privacy Shield which required them to provide similar protection to personal data that applies within the EEA..
